

A real motivator

Thank you for your wonderful contribution to the Museums Australia State Conference last week. Primarily for your fantastic presentation (which delegates are still talking about) and your usual commitment to being there at the conference and contributing in a myriad of other ways.

I knew your presentation would be well received but my goodness the delegates just loved it! It seems your presentation was a real motivator for all of them to make changes in a positive way. They could see how quite easily they could take what they had learnt and implement it back at the coal face.

I sincerely thank you for all your efforts including making the extra time to come in and undertake research for your presentation so as it would relate more specifically to the sector. It all certainly seemed to have a positive effect, delegates were coming out of the venue beaming and excited after your session at what they had learnt, the fun engaging way it was delivered and feeling empowered to make some change.
